

Journal Thank you note

AMJ 2024 17(08)

Journal Thank you note

Rick Steves

Managing Editor

Australasian Medical Journal

E-mail: medicalsci@medicineinsights.com

We invite you to consider joining us as a reviewer or to recommend potential reviewers. Don't forget to submit your research papers for potential publication in AMJ and recommend the journal to your colleagues as a trusted venue for academic research. Should you have any questions, please feel free to reach out to the AMJ Editor via email.

Dear Readers,

It is my great pleasure to present to you the latest edition of the Australasian Medical Journal (AMJ) for 2024. Since its founding in 2008, AMJ has consistently published high-quality academic and systematic research findings twelve times a year. Each issue includes a diverse range of article types, such as original research, reviews, case reports, case studies, letters to the editor, commentaries, and opinions.

The AMJ was established with the aim of supporting researchers in developing countries by providing them a platform to disseminate the findings of their extensive studies. We remain steadfast in that commitment. Furthermore, our dedication to quality is reflected in the growing number of submissions we receive from renowned scholars across the globe, including Australia, Saudi Arabia, China, the United States, Morocco, Nigeria, South Africa, Denmark, and many other nations.

The primary mission of the journal is to highlight advances in medical science and healthcare, with a particular emphasis on contributions from Australasia. Globally, the journal's content is widely indexed in various abstracting and indexing databases. Currently, AMJ is in the process of compiling the tenth issue of volume 17. This year, the journal has published a number of high-calibre, peer-reviewed articles on topics such as oesophageal carcinoma, cardiovascular and vascular health, 3D printing software technology, shear wave Elastography, diabetes, HIV/AIDS, geriatric medicine, nutritional studies, and haemodynamic research. These subjects represent some of the most pressing challenges and ongoing research efforts in the global medical community.

AMJ continues to maintain a strong editorial board with a focus on Australia, and I would like to extend my sincere thanks to all the authors who have entrusted the journal with their invaluable work. I also wish to express my gratitude to our dedicated editorial team and professional peer reviewers, whose hard work ensures the timely publication of each issue, while considering the needs of our readership.

Looking ahead, I send my best wishes to the journal management team as they continue their efforts towards the successful development and publication of both regular and special issues. We look forward to achieving further successes and growth in the future.